JAP OFFICERS SHOT

CANADIAN IN TROUBLE IN COREA

Skirmish Near Puk Ching. Reports From Port Arthur Indicate Another Battle

Another Battle On

London, April 21st.—The Yan Kow correspondent of a Paris newspaper telegraphs:—
"I am close to Port Arthur, and might give a true version instead of mere conjectures of many rumors abroad, but the Russians strictly forbid all communication by either land or sea."
"An event of extremely grave nature is certainly going on in the Peninsula. At the moment of sending this message I am told another battle is being fought in the neighborhood of Port Arthur."

Russians After a Canadian

Paris, April 21.—Russians at Mukden have ordered the arrest of a Canadian named Davidson, a representative of the firm of Clark, Son & Co., on a charge of espionage, but when they sent men to take him into custody, he could not be found.
The Russians are persecuting all the Americans who failed to flee before hostilities were thought under way.
Four unarmed Americans are detained on a charge of espionage in behalf of the Japanese.

Skirmish Near Puk Ching

Seoul, April 21.—1.05 a.m.—Strong rumors are current here of a land engagement yesterday near the mouth of the Yalu, the result of which is unknown.
Russians scouts reached Puk Ching, a hundred miles north of Wonsan, evidently with the idea of making a demonstration against the latter place, and hoping to draw the Japanese force in that direction, but a superior Japanese force met the Russians and caused them to retire.
Both armies are using the same tactics on the eastern and western Korean coast.

Two Japanese Officers Shot

St. Petersburg, April 21.—In a telegram to the Emperor yesterday, General Kurapatkin stated: "I respectfully beg to report to Your Majesty that two Japanese officers named Sotono Yukoh and Ginkaki, were arrested near the station of Turekika. A court martial held at Harbin on April 20th, found them guilty, while belonging to the Japanese army operating against the army of Russia, of destroying or damaging telegraph and railway communication by means of pyroxilin provided for that purpose."
The officers were in Mongolian dress to disguise their nationality.
They were condemned to be deprived of their civil rights and to be executed by hanging.
I confirmed the sentence, but in view of the officers' rank, consented that they be shot instead of hanged, with the same loss of civil rights.
I refused their prayers to spare their lives, and they were executed at 6 o'clock on the evening of April 21st.

WAR NOTES

The Japanese squadron before Port Arthur on April 13 consisted of six battleships, two first-class cruisers and four second class cruisers. The Russians had five battleships, two first-class cruisers and one second class cruiser. The disparity of the forces therefore was by no means so great as the Russian report indicated and certainly did not warrant a precipitate retreat of the Russians.

Eye Sufferers Attention!

Dr. J. Graham Ure, General Manager of the Great West Optical Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, B.C., has completed arrangements with MR. A. ARCHIBALD, the well-known Druggist of this city, to become Agent for the Company. Mr. Archibald will be assisted from time to time by the Company's ablest Eye Specialists, who will visit Edmonton regularly.

This is the largest exclusively optical company in Canada and aims to establish a chain of offices that will extend from the Pacific to Atlantic. It will manufacture all its own spectacles at a saving to the public of the middle-the small towns the services of the most competent specialists supplying glasses. Every customer receives a receipt which contains the company's guarantee of every frame sold and should anything prove unsatisfactory the company holds itself responsible and will replace or make good the glasses purchased.

This is the only company of opticians in existence that protects its clients by guaranteeing its work. To introduce the company's specialists, and also the superior quality of their goods, very special rates will be quoted for a few days. In order to place the company's business before the general public in the most thorough and satisfactory way Dr. Ure at great inconvenience to himself has decided to personally supervise the first four of the company's specialists. The Edmonton public therefore has an opportunity that seldom occurs of consultation and examination FREE OF CHARGE.

GRAND TRUNK DEBATE

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

The Opposition Resort to Obstructionist Tactics to Knock the G. T. F.

Ottawa, April 21.—The Grand Trunk Pacific resolutions were discussed in committee of the whole to-day.

The debate in progress is of much the same character as took place during the discussion preceding the vote but with the evident intent on opposing to obstruct.

Lefurgey read into Hansard the report of the meeting of the Grand Trunk shareholders at which the amended agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific was endorsed.

The Macoun report on the Peace River country occupied a warm hour in the agricultural committee.
The Opposition members attempted by a motion to exclude from the report any remarks by members of the committee so as to have Macoun's statements and inferences unchallenged. The motion was defeated by 35 to 21. This was the record meeting of the committee, which was occupied by efforts of the members of the Opposition to prevent the presentation of facts in opposition to Macoun's statements.
They are bound to condemn the Peace River country at all costs as means of giving the Grand Trunk Pacific project a black eye.

WILL GO TO REGINA

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).
Calgary, April 21.—The application of the Crown for the transfer of the cases against Bangs, Behan and Boyce to Regina, was heard yesterday.
The Crown dropped the case and they were dismissed. They were immediately rearrested on warrants sworn out in Regina. Bangs and Behan will leave to-day noon for Regina. Bangs will leave on Monday.
There are fifteen applications for the position of City Clerk and Treasurer.

MEDICINE HAT BLAZE

Medicine Hat, N. W. T., April 21.—Fire this morning destroyed C. Cooper's livery and feed station. Over 30 horses were burned, besides all the equipments and large quantities of pressed hay. Loss about $12,000; no life lost.
The firemen confined the fire and prevented its spreading to other stables and stores in the vicinity.

PASTOR SUICIDES

Montreal, Que., April 18.—Rev. Colin Duguid, pastor of St. James' Presbyterian church, committed suicide last night, just at the hour when the congregation was waiting for him to preach at the evening service. He was only 27 years of age and unmarried.

OTTAWA CORRESPONDENCE.

The debate on the transcontinental railway proposals has been running for eight days and so far without any startling developments. The reasons given by the Premier for the alterations in the bargain, and his justifications for those alterations, still stand unquestioned. The attack of the opposition has been directed against the government scheme as a whole, not against the alterations, and has been from as many different points as there have been speakers, each opposing the position of the other. The strongest divergence of opinion among the members of the opposition was in regard to that part of the railway between Montreal and North Bay. This was the portion upon which the leader of the opposition laid greatest stress, bemoaning the danger of its not being used by the Grand Trunk to the advantage of the maritime province ports. His supporters, Messrs. Northrup, Porter and others from Ontario, took the position that if the Grand Trunk Pacific was only to extend from North Bay to the Pacific, they would be prepared to support it, considering the extension to the maritime ports as a useless expense for construction and a burden on western producers in extra freight, notwithstanding the fact that a chief provision of the contract is that rates to Canadian ports shall not be higher than to United States ports. Others of the opposition bewailed the danger to the business of the Canadian system of waterways from the construction of the transcontinental, while still others regretted the impossibility of the railway competing with the waterways. Still others found their chief grievance against the railway in the fact that it would take up money and credit that otherwise might be expended in deepening the harbours of Halifax, St. John and Montreal; others, again, made their objection that the government had not assumed the whole responsibility and charge of building the railway from ocean to ocean. No matter whether the bargain was good for the company or good for the country, whether it would develop or would not develop the trade of its ports, whether it would compete or would not compete with our waterways, whether it meant government ownership or company ownership, whether it was a success or a failure, the government was to be condemned in every case. On the government side, the Minister of Interior made a careful, exhaustive and able defence of the amended terms of the contract, a defence which was not attacked by the opposition in any particular. Campbell of West York, who operates large flour mills, and therefore is posted on freight rates, made a statement that the Canadian Pacific systematically discriminated against Canadian shippers from Eastern to Western Canadian ports, as compared with rates to the Canadian West from United States ports. He was sharply challenged on this point by Mr. Tarte, who asked for particulars and was given them so fully and quickly that he collapsed, and the subject was not further alluded to by members of the opposition.

Yesterday Cowan, of North Essex, made the only fighting speech that has been made from the government benches during the course of the debate. He specifically dealt with the speech that had been made by Oiler, of West Toronto, attacking the Grand Trunk Pacific project. He showed that Mr. Oiler was one of the chief men in the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and charged that his action and arguments were made distinctly on behalf of that company in violation of the principle of the independence of parliament as laid down on previous occasions by leading members of the opposition party. He took up the allusion made by Mr. Oiler to the men connected with the Grand Trunk Pacific as fakirs, and contrasted the record of Mr. Oiler in his connection with the Regina, Qu'Appelle, and Long Lake railways, and the C. P. R., with the standing and position of Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, C. M. Hayes, Senator Cox, and others connected with the Grand Trunk Pacific project. The leader of the opposition had quoted from the private memorandum submitted by the Hon. Mr. Blair for the information of his colleagues in December last, in which he stated his position in regard to government ownership. Mr. Borden in quoting from this document had spoken of it as having been published. Mr. Cowan said that it had not been published at that time or at any time, until it appeared in the Montreal Star a day or two ago. The leader of the opposition was guilty of using a document which was marked off, and which he knew to be confidential; knowing it to have been procured by illegitimate means, or otherwise, "stolen," by an employee of the government. Mr. Cowan pointed out that although the opposition were ready to take advantage of the most discreditable means of procuring Mr. Blair's views on government ownership, they themselves had always been opposed to such ownership, and so far as they were prepared to commit themselves, were still opposed to it. Porter, of West Hastings, who followed Cowan, did not attempt to reply to any of his attacks, but while claiming to be absolutely unprejudiced, he found cause for objection to every feature of the bargain, both as it was at first and as amended. He read into Hansard the whole of the document submitted as confidential by Mr. Blair to his colleagues, and to which Mr. Cowan had alluded, and then dismissed it by saying that he had nothing to say on the subject of government ownership.

There was a lively sitting of the Agricultural Committee yesterday morning, when Mr. James Macoun was heard in regard to the Peace River country. Mr. Macoun is a botanist attached to the Geological Survey Department and was sent to the Peace River country in the summer of 1903. His report has been published and is decidedly unfavorable both as to the climate, soil and general capabilities of the country. As the Peace River region is an important part of the country to be developed by construction of the transcontinental railway, Mr. Macoun's report is of especial interest at the present time. The opponents of the scheme, ready to seize on anything that may in any way hamper or discredit it, have been rejoiced at the report and have been using it as a means of discrediting the transcontinental railway project, both with the people of Canada and with the British invaders. Naturally the members of the committee were much interested in what Mr. Macoun had to say and there was a very full representation of the members of the Opposition in order to get their ammunition at first hand. Members from the West who are familiar with the conditions in their own localities, did not agree with the conclusions arrived at by Mr. Macoun and told so. Mr. Macoun and his friends did not take kindly to this and he resorted by charging that their position was the result of personal prejudice against himself, partly because of a desire to improperly boom the Peace River country and partly because of their interest in upholding the traffic in alcohol and essence against which he had also reported. He further said that as long ago as the date upon which Hon. Sir John Schultz, then senator, had secured a committee of investigation on the resources of the Mackenzie basin, he had been prepared to report against the value of the Peace River country but had not been allowed to do so, and that later on he had told Lord Strathcona that he was only getting $800 a year salary because he would not mistake the facts within his knowledge in regard to that country. In answer to direct questions he gave his opinion that because of altitude and latitude the upper Peace River country was not, and could not become suitable for grain raising; that it was not suitable for cattle raising; and that, speaking of it as a whole, it was of little or no practical value outside the actual river valley, which only contained a few thousand acres of farm land. These statements, so sweeping in their character, based on so little observation and a total absence of practical knowledge, are evidence that Mr. Macoun's report was made for some purpose other than the statement of the facts of the case with a view of drawing fair inferences from them. As a matter of fact, his conclusions have no justification in the facts given as he himself states them. When viewed in the light of comparative conditions in corresponding situations. For instance, he declared that the country was too dry to grow wheat, while the first frost which he recorded last summer occurred on the 10th of August, and yet Manitoba and the Territories produced a very large amount of wheat and other grains last year and still hold their position as the granary of the empire. In reply to his specific statement that the altitude and latitude precluded grain growing, it may be pointed out that the altitude of the Peace River prairie is practically the same as that of Edmonton and that the latitude is not higher than that of Lac la Poudre, where grain has been grown with more than average success for fifty years. Although his conclusion that the country was not suitable for cattle raising was reached, he stated in reply to specific inquiry, that there was an excellent growth of grass, that there was blue-joint and pea-vine hay, sufficient water, and that the period of winter feeding was probably four, and certainly not more than five months. At one period of the river was similar to that of the country around Regina, being so hard that tent-pegs could scarcely be driven into it, and yet supporting a good growth of grass. Further on he stated that the nature of the soil throughout the whole of the prairie region of the Peace river, aggregating 75,000 acres, was a layer of black soil not more than four or five inches in depth lying directly on blue clay. The soil of the Regina district is hard as he stated, but it is not blue clay, and probably the most inexhaustible wheat soil in all the northern territories. There is a plain contradiction in his statements and conclusion which absolutely discredits him as an authority. Although he stated distinctly and deliberately at first that on the Grand Trunk Pacific in particular, the thin layer of black soil lay directly on the blue clay, on further questioning it was revealed that this was only the case in the low-lying or flat localities; that on rising ground there was an intervening layer of porous soil, which every practical farmer knows would produce radically opposite results from the case of black soil lying directly on blue clay.

No one has any interest in brining out anything but the facts in regard to the Peace River or any other part of the Dominion of Canada. It is possible that the advantages of the Peace River country may have been over-stated, or an exaggerated impression may prevail in the minds of people who are not well informed. This is wrong, but it is just as wrong to permit to get out a supposedly authoritative statement altogether without other than the most trifling support and on the word of a man who has been shown to be a liar and a fraud, and from evidence which he gave in the most discreditable manner, and under lack of judgment.

WHY NEWS IS SCARCER.

Victoria Times:

There was an exceedingly disgusted gentleman on the trans-Pacific liner Victoria, which reached the ocean docks Monday night. He had no kick against the weather man, who had handed out his choicest meteorological brands throughout the entire voyage, nor against the staunch liner or anything or anybody on her, including himself; but he was wrathful because the Mikado's government had been dangling himself and about five dozen others at the end of a string ever since the war commenced. A. D. Ashton, for that is the passenger's name, is a staff artist in the service of Collier's Weekly, and he is returning home because he became increasingly weary of waiting for permission to proceed to the front, or variety of fronts, because nobody seems to know anything about the operations. He is a firm believer in the deleterious effect of continued disappointment. One or two little "throw-downs" by the city courtsoons officials of His Imperial Majesty Mutsuhiro, can be tolerated with something like equanimity, but when a systematic practice of alternately encouraging and blasting hopes is adopted, Mr. Ashton concludes that his retirement is in order. That is why he is going home.

CANADIANS FOR JAPAN

Calgary Herald:

Despite the statement of Consul-General Neebe to the contrary, Canadians are said to be week by week quietly leaving Canada to take part in the Russo-Japanese war.

For some time past, great efforts have been made by the Japanese government to secure the services of Canadians who acted in the various bear-companions during the South African campaign.

About 300, it is stated, throughout the length and breadth of Canada, have engaged themselves to the Japanese government.

The Japanese seem to have a very complete knowledge concerning the Canadians who took part in the various bear-companions operating in South Africa, for it is stated that every one of those who took part there has received an offer from the Japanese government to proceed at once to Japan.

The offer is one which has attracted a great many of those who saw service in South Africa. Thirty dollars a month is promised, and all expenses are guaranteed during the campaign. The moment the Canadian volunteer sets sail from Canada across the Pacific for Tokyo, he has six months' salary in advance put in his hand, to bind the agreement.

It is stated that the negotiations on behalf of the Japanese government have been conducted through a second service agency which is quite independent of the bureau of the Japanese consul general.

THE PEACEWAKER

Vancouver World:

A small man, decidedly foreign in appearance and wearing a long beard, appeared passing through Vancouver en route to the Far East. The captain's route to the Far East, the many other is in no respect like the many other birds of passage that have called at this port since Japan and Russia declared war upon each other.

According to a direct statement made by Captain Von Gundlach himself, his mission to the Orient is one of peace. England, so the captain says, has already made proposals for his intervention, and in support of his assertion, Captain Von Gundlach has secret code cables received from his foreign office at Berlin. Even the foreign office at Berlin, he says, since he left for the Pacific coast, he has been constantly kept informed by telegraph of whatever changes have taken place in the diplomatic relations of the various countries interested in the struggle.

Captain Von Gundlach has been interested to go directly to the seat of conflict and from there keep his own counsel and from there keep his own counsel and from there keep his own counsel. The captain says have already commenced. His cue for that is that he will be too late to play an active part, for he believes that a settlement will be reached in now only a few days distant.

This will not be the captain's first visit to Japan. A decade ago he spent several years in the land of the Mikado, and became well acquainted with the customs of the government and the purposes of the government. For that reason, he has been selected to undertake the difficult task with which he is now commissioned.

Captain Von Gundlach says that Great Britain has proposed the recognition of Japan's paramount authority in Korea, and to this proposal the Russian government has given a favorable hearing. This the way for peace is already cleared.
